A gentleman of a somewhat skeptical temperament was waiting in our reception room one day last week. He asked a gentleman (a stranger to him) who came from the chair after having several teeth extracted, "Did it hurt you?"

"Not a Bit"

was the frank reply of the patient. Perhaps this incident "from real life" will serve to strengthen your confidence, too, in "painless extracting" by our SAFE methods.

NEW QUARANTINE FOR FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

All the Territory East of the Mississippi and North of Tennessee.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Foot and mouth disease quarantine regulations were extended by the department of agriculture today so as to include the territory east of the Mississippi and north of Tennessee in a restricted area out of which no shipments of livestock except for slaughter within 48 hours will be permitted to the south or west.

All of the great slaughtering centers are located in the restricted territory and there is little shipping of livestock out of it but the new order was deemed necessary to protect the stock producing sections from infection.

Two new important regulations were adopted today, one defining "immediate slaughter," as used in existing orders, as "within eight hours," and another prohibiting the transportation of livestock in any part of the United States after Feb. 17 except in immediate slaughter.

Owing to the fact that few or no cases of foot and mouth disease have been found in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and the District of Columbia, stock owners in these four States will be permitted under the revised regulations to ship out stock upon condition that it has been on their farms for a certain length of time and has not been exposed to any risk of contagion.

CHARITY BALL AT THE ARMORY

Annual Event by Catholic Woman's Club Brilliantly Carried Out—Decorations in Pink and White With Electrical and Floral Effects—Attendance of Between 800 and 900.

One of the most successful and most largely attended in the long list of annual Charity Balls given by the Catholic Woman's club of St. Patrick's parish was that of Monday evening, when a crowd of between 800 and 900 enjoyed this final social function at the Armory before the opening of the Lenten season.

Decorations in Pink and White.

Pink and white was the color scheme adopted for the decorations with a touch of green that represented windows along one side of the hall, achieving a soft and harmonious effect that made a beautiful background for the brilliant scene.

The walls on either side were in white with a band of pink at the ceiling line and a fluted frieze of pink. Sprays of Southern holly were scattered along the walls and on the front of the boxes on the north side of the hall where there was a double tier.

On the south side of the wall windows were formed by intervals with broad bands of green. The ceiling was in white, divided into large squares by broad fluted moldings of pink.

Charity.

Hanging in the center of the hall was the large electric sign with the word "Charity." From this hung a swing of electric lights, southern holly and white flowers, and two galls of almost life-size and as the grand march began the swing was set in motion and kept oscillating back and forth over the dancers through the evening.

At four corner points in the hall were festoons of electric lights and small white flowers, and roses were arranged among the smilex, and altogether the decorations were commented upon as among the prettiest that have been seen in the city.

The grand march was led by the president, Mrs. M. H. Donahue, with John P. Corcoran, who was master of ceremonies.

Concert Opened the Ball.

The ball began with a well rendered concert from 8:30 to 9 for which the following programme was given by Drew's orchestra, directed by James P. Drew.

March, "Under Heinrich," Chambers Overture, "Dreams of Erin," L. O. de Witt Humoresque, "Adèle," Brigue Selection, "Adèle," Brigue

Grand March.

The grand march followed the concert, and made an especially notable scene which brought out a burst of applause as the 84 couples in line came up the hall at the end in lines of grandeur.

The march was led by the president, Mrs. M. H. Donahue, with John P. Corcoran, who was master of ceremonies.

The next couple was Mayor and Mrs. T. C. Murphy, followed by Frank T. Higgins and Mrs. Higgins, the first couple to be introduced.

Mrs. John P. McNamara, the second vice president; Maurice F. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly, the financial secretary.

The grand director was Prof. Joseph Devine.

Modern Dances Barred.

The first number after the march was the Lancers, but before the couples could get into line, Professor Thomas P. Maher, the promoter, informed the dancers that he had been requested to announce that there should be no modern dancing here this evening.

The announcement was greeted with a loud but audible expression of astonishment and surprise, and a burst of applause. It explained why the printed programme was devoid of one-step and fox-trot and the director of the party had declined to permit these to appear upon the programme.

The eighteen numbers that made up the dance list were enjoyed to the limit, the closing hour at 1 o'clock, many couples being called for and obligingly given by the orchestra.

The success of the ball was due to the efficient work of the arrangements committee which was the following:

Mrs. M. H. Donahue, Mrs. Francis T. Higgins, Mrs. John P. McNamara, Mrs. Maurice F. Kelly, Mrs. James P. Fenton, Mrs. Richard M. Powers, Mrs. George A. Comer, Mrs. Andrew J. Whaley, Mrs. Grace V.
